The drivers for your Canon Printer are provided by your printer manufacturer. So if you are using a new product (for example a Canon Pixma printer or even an inkjet printer), you will be provided with a Canon driver package. Usually, you can download the printer drivers right on the Canon web site, when you visit the link provided by your printer manufacturer. If you have an old printer, you have to install the drivers by yourself. For the installation of the Canon driver it is recommended to have a Microsoft

Windows XP or Windows Vista or Windows 7 operating system installed. 1. Install the printer driver. The installation of the printer driver on your computer is done in the following way: On the Windows Control Panel, you will find the "Add or Remove Programs" button. On this button click. A new window will open. In this window, you will find an application called "Canon Installer". In the list of installed applications, you will find the Canon Installer. The installation process can take up to 15 minutes. 2. Reboot your computer. 3. The printer driver should be working now. If you would like to
