A new class of substituted pyridyl-pyrrolidones, where each pyridyl position is modified with an ethyl group and a halide, have been prepared from N-alkyl substituted 2-amino-4-pyridinone. The commercially available precursor was converted into the new compounds by an improved nucleophilic substitution reaction, a straightforward ring formation process, and a Wittig olefination protocol. The new compounds have been fully characterized and their structures confirmed by NMR spectroscopy, UV/Vis spectrophotometry, and high-resolution mass spectrometry. The conformation and charge distribution of the compounds were examined using a combination of UV/Vis and DFT calculations. The presence of iodide in the new class of ionic liquids, for example, allows for a straightforward one-pot synthesis from polymers and less expensive raw materials.¹⁸ Copyright 2013 Google Inc. * Licensed under the Apache License, Version 2.0 (the "License"); you may not * use this file except in compliance with the License.
